director's note

The Wedding Singer has been in the works since I became director of the Northern Lehigh Little Theatre three years ago. It was something that my assistant director, Andrew Kern, and I knew we wanted to do, but needed just the right cast. In particular, the show demanded a large cast, much larger than in recent years. Not only did we need a large cast, but a cast with powerful, bold voices to pull off the 1980's style rock music within the show. Fortunately, the recent successes of last year's Freddy® Award-winning Dirty Rotten Scoundrels and this fall's Get Smart have brought a growing number of students into the Little Theatre family. I believe you will agree that not only is this cast large, it is also remarkably talented.

We also wanted to do a grand, exciting production to mark the 45th anniversary of our program. Since 1971's production of My Fair Lady, the Northern Lehigh Little Theatre has worked diligently each year to bring the school district and community first class high school productions that showcase the talents of our wonderful students. We are fortunate at NLHS to have the bright young students we have and it is a privilege to work with them. This year we say goodbye to veteran talents like Alexis Middaugh, Nate Rex, and Jake Heintzelman, who, in their senior years, have not only proven themselves great actors, but also respected role models for their underclassmen. In addition to our seniors, we have a tremendous group of underclassmen that will carry the torch for years to come.

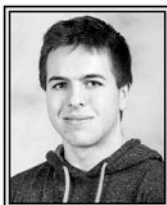

I would like to thank all the parents who helped in the production and encouraged their students to join the theatre program, particularly Mrs. Lynnette Wayda, president of the Northern Lehigh Little Theatre Association. In addition, thanks to my staff for their tireless work, guidance, and planning to bring this vision to life. I would particularly like to thank Andrew Kern and Steven Shuey. Without them, the show would not be nearly as brilliant. I would like to thank my wife for her continued support and encouragement, despite being pregnant for much of the production!

Finally, thank you all for your continued support of our theatre program. Forty-five years have come and gone in no small part to your attendance and patronage. We now look on to the next several decades and hope for new traditions, new casts, and new productions. Enjoy the show!
